

Hotel Kämp in Helsinki, Finland, listed as one of the top 400 hotels

The esteemed Forbes Traveler has once again listed the 400 best hotels in the world. Hotel Kämp in Helsinki, Finland was the only Finnish and, in fact, the only Scandinavian hotel included.

The Forbes list has been compiled by 79 luxury travel experts. The criteria include for instance service, interior design, food, and location. In addition to its impeccable service, Hotel Kämp received praise for its attractive location in the heart of the city, as well as its refined and dashing décor. The versatile restaurant services of the three different restaurants of Hotel Kämp are mentioned especially: the à la carte restaurant Kämp Café, the modern night club Kämp Club, and the Japanese and Scandinavian style Yume.

Forbes Traveler does not list the hotels in any order of preference, as the experts felt that all of the hotels are unique and thus offer different, but definitely high-quality experiences. Therefore making it to the list serves as a testimonial that the hotel invests in quality and a pleasant atmosphere in all areas of operation, making the stay a thoroughly enjoyable experience for the guests.

Hotel Kämp has been an essential element of the Helsinki city scenery for over 120 years. Restaurateur Carl Kämp wanted to establish a continental-style hotel in Helsinki, and in 1887, Hotel Kämp opened its doors creating quite a stir in the media. Helsinki had got its truly European luxury hotel. Even today, the objective of Hotel Kämp is to offer its guests unique experiences.

Hotel Kämp, one of the best hotels in the world, is open this year for the first time during the Christmas season, offering its guests the opportunity to spend Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, and Boxing Day in relaxing and luxurious surroundings in the middle of Helsinki. The Hotel Kämp Christmas includes Christmas feasts and Christmas entertainment, such as horse carriage rides in the centre of Helsinki.
